

June 9th

Well we left home at 10 this morning. It was a beautiful day and every thing went well. We drove through Western Mo. W. Va, and Pa. and we ended up at a KOA in Lancaster, Ohio at six O'Clock. We had dinner walked a little talked to some neighbors, Now Jim is out riding the campground. We have some beautiful horses in the field right next to us. Well it was not a very exciting day but we covered a lot of miles and had no problems. We will be up at six in the morning and on the road by seven.

June 10th

Well to-day was a very interesting day. We didn't get away until seven thirty and we hit the rush hour traffic to Columbus. When we stopped for gas we noticed the sides of our trailer were coming loose. So we talked it over and decided we had to find an RV Service shop. So we looked in the Camp guide and found two in Dayton, Ohio, only 3 miles apart. So in we go. Well they said it would take two weeks to fix it. That was out of the question. Two weeks in Dayton, would be like two weeks in Minnoka. So we decided we should get another trailer. Both dealers offered us a terrific deal on a new trailer. A Jayco for $7995. minus something for ours. It was a beauty but it was 20' and we would have trouble pulling it. Neither dealer had an 18'. So that was that. He stopped at Wall Mart and got caulking and braces. If we are going to try to fix it. Well we lost 2 1/2 hours but we finally got on the road again. He drove through the rest of Ohio and all through Indiana (boring) and now it is 9:20 p.m. and we are in Bloomington, Illinois. It is a beautiful campground but we are having very heavy rain & some lightning. I hope it is all over by morning. Tomorrow, Jim will put braces on the front of the trailer. He caulked it when we got here. But we are all dry & very tired so I guess we will have a good night. The woman who checked us in said there was a railroad right across the street, so if we heard a train during the night, not to panic. Well, it wasn't a very exciting day, except a large train just went by. Maybe tomorrow will be better. Dry I hope.

Well to-day is Wednesday. We got away at 7:15 but then in fifteen minutes we passed a time zone and it was only 6:15. So we got a real early start. We drove through the rest of Oglala^s the entire state of ~~Indiana and all of Iowa~~. The are now in Sioux City, South Dakota. It rained off and on all day but nothing to worry about. It rained very hard all of last night and two trains went by but he blew the whistle so we knew it wasn't a storm. In Iowa, we saw some deer, some pig farms and we crossed the Mississippi River. The entire state is Casinos and River Boats for gambling. Well we didn't go near them. Now we are at a very nice KOA and we just went up for an ice cream social. All the ice cream and cookies you want for $1.25. We took a long walk and Jim is taking his shower. I like to take mine just before I go to bed. We drive over 500 miles a day and I am tired. Tomorrow we'll pick up another hair so it will be another long day.

June 12

We had very heavy rain all afternoon yesterday and last night and it continued very hard all day today until we got to Wyoming. We left Sioux City, S. D. at 7:15 this morning in the rain. Driving was very difficult and around noon we saw an overturned truck in the median. A man said they got the driver out and took him away (I hope to a hospital). The state of S. D. has thousands of Oriole birds. They are all over the road and they are so pretty. At 2:30 we hit Mountain time so we set our clocks back another hour. We are two hours earlier now. Still we drove until we passed through S. D. and also 1/3 of Wyoming. We got to a campground about 6:30. We are at a Good Sam Park called Green Trees Crazy Women. Legend say Crazy Woman was a lone survivor of an Indian raid. She survived alone on the banks of Crazy Woman Creek.

The Indians considered her a symbol of good luck. Well, it has been a very long day and tomorrow we drive through Wyoming into Montana. So I need to get my shower & some sleep.

June 13.

Well, this Friday the 13th It is 6:45 pm and so far, except for a very severe thunderstorm, we have been very lucky. We left Gillette, Wyoming at 6:25 this A.M.
It was very cool, sweat shirt weather.
We made friends with the couple camped next to us. They have been to Alaska by now and gave us a lot of good advice. There is no speed limit in Wyoming or Montana except at night, its 65. So we made very good time. We just checking into a KOA in Butte, Montana. They had fried chicken & baked potatoes (Jo Jo's) so bought them and had our dinner.

He went up to the phone and called Lorraine (no ans.) + Jimmy (no ans.) and finally got Bud. It is now 7 O'Clock and it looks like an all night rain. So I'm going to take my shower and read. Until tomorrow.

June 14 - Sat.

Well we left Butte, Montana this morning at 7 O'clock. It was very cold (50's) and 30 mile an hour winds. We were only on the road about 15 minutes when we saw a sheriff with lights flashing. A large truck had lost control and tumbled over. The guard rail saved him from going over a big cliff. They had already taken him away. But it was very foggy, so we drove carefully. There is no speed limit. About 10:30 the fog lifted and we made better time. It is a very long way across the middle of Montana. About noon we stopped at a rest area (still in Montana). As soon as we got out at the van, a sign greeted us.

Rattlesnakes have been spotted stay on side walk. Well, that did it for me. The ate a quick lunch and got out of there. He finally reached the border and after a few questions, we passed over. Jim was very polite to the customs man, he yes sired and no sired him.
Then he asked if we had any firearms on us. Jim said no but we had a flare gun. The guard just smiled and said go on. We were in Alberta about 1/2 hour and stopped for gas and I saw a mountain lion in the woods across the street. He bought gas that cost $30.50. I gave him a travelers check for $100.00. Well we got $30.50 worth of gas and $104.75 in Canadian money back.
$100 is worth $1.35. So I left Alberta, and are now in Calgary.
We called David had a good dinner, showered, cleaned the trailer and man and we'll be leaving for Edmonton in the morning. It is very warm here. The first warm weather since we left home. It is 9:45 and the sun is still shining.

Well, I finally went to bed last night at 11 O'Clock and it was still bright. I pulled my sleeping bag over my head and I wake up with sunshine in my eyes. It was 5 O'Clock. So I made coffee and we were on the road a little before seven. We saw another truck off the road in Alberta and we saw several foxes. We had lunch at The Donalds and hit the road again. We saw some mule deer and a moose. We had another bad storm and heavy rain but we drove on. We drove 550 miles to-day and reached Dawson Creek ^{B.C.} the beginning of the Alaska Hwy. We are in a Good Sam Park and we got the last sight. We have electric but no water. But the rain has stopped and we ate dinner, walked a little and visited the store. Tomorrow we have several places here in Dawson City to visit and we will be off again. We have driven over 3300 miles in 7 days but now we are on the Alaska Hwy and headed for the Yukon. It will be day light until, at least, midnight to-night. But it never gets real dark. It is hard to sleep.

Monday - June 16

Well this day started out not so good. We didn't get away from H&A until 8 O'Clock. Then we took some pictures and went to a museum. We had to put air in two tires. We finally got on the road and we had a flat. Well, we changed that and then had lunch. So it was noon when we finally got moving. We Saw a big black bear alongside the road and stopped for pictures. We were very excited. But we drove about another mile and there was this giant grizzly next to the road. It must have weighed at least 500 pounds. We stayed in the car but got some good pictures. It was scary. All in all we saw five black bears, one grizzly, a moose, a caribou, and a horse laying dead alongside the road. We drove until after eight to make up for the morning. Now it is 8:45 and we are in the Rocky Mountains way up where the snow is. We passed an ice glacier on the way here. We are camped at a provincial park, right on Summit Lake, surrounded by snow capped mts. It is very cold. We have no hook ups at all. But we are going to get up very early and make it to the Yukon Border tomorrow.

Tuesday - June 17

Well, here it is another day.
He had a very long day again.
He left at 6 this morning and it was very cold. He saw several more bears, moose, caribou and sheep. That was exciting but the drive was terrible. The roads are all under construction and the dirt and bumps were terrible.
Several times we had to wait for an escort car because it was over way. For at least thirty miles it would be dirt road and then two or three gravel then another 30 of dirt and construction. He are having some trailer problems but Jim is patching it up. I think we will have to get another trailer when we get home if we make it. He went grocery shopping at Super Fresh in Watson Lake and it was unbelievable. Bananas were 21.09 a lb. Cookies were 4.49 and bread was 4.29 a loaf.

I bought two little bags and spent $46.00. Oh well, it was Canadian money. He went to a bank here and changed $400.00 worth of travelers checks for $547.00 in Canadian money. But gas is $35.00 every fill up and the only thing cheap is camping. The average about $15.00 a nite for full hookups. Well, we're off again in the morning and maybe the roads will be a little better.

June 18 - Wednesday

We left Jake's Corner at 7 this morning. We had a very long day again. The road conditions were worse than the day before, if that's possible. We saw two wolves early in the morning and the rest of the day was rain and mud. It rained all thru the Yukon and the roads were all dirt. When we got into Alaska we had more construction but the rain stopped, so the mud on the car and trailer dried. We drove 50 miles after we passed customs into the town of Tok. We found a station with a power spray but you had to wash your own. So for $2.00 we power sprayed the mud off car and trailer. We are now in a very nice campground and we had dinner. Now I am going to shower and I won't be up very long. But it is only 7:35. It stays bright all night so it doesn't matter when you go to sleep. We are leaving in the morning for Fairbanks and I hope the roads are better. We will leave the trailer at a site in Fairbanks for several days and drive each day to where we want to go.

June 19 - Thursday

Well, it is 10 of 9 here now but it is 10 of 1 in the morning at Homer. It is very confusing. We are in Fairbanks at a very nice campground on the Chena

River. It is small, only about 35 camp sites. We went into a bigger one but it was full and they called ahead and got us a site here. We left Tok this morning at 8 and stopped at the Visitors Center.
They had a lot of information and a lot of "stuffed" animals. We met two men there. They were brothers and they must have been around our age. They were going clear to the Arctic Circle and at Deadhorse as far as you can go. They were funny. They said if we had any trailer problems, they had room in their camper for us. We passed them on the road several times.
We also stopped at the North Pole. It was o.k. but too commercial. We got here about 4 and cooked some chicken and potatoes and had a good dinner.
We also did a load of laundry. We are getting up early again tomorrow to go either to Barrow or the Arctic

Circles. He are leaving the trailer and just driving up and back. He will probably stay in Fairbanks until Sunday. This Campground is on a lake that has plane tours to every where. The little portcooler planes are always taking off or landing. Camping was $18.50 a site with hook ups. There is a free coffee & pastry breakfast in the lounge in the morning and a nice big lounge with TV and a VCR and tapes. It is very nice and clean. Well, I better shower and get to bed so I can get up at 6.
June 20 - Friday

It is Friday evening - 6:30 and it has been a very long day. We left Chena Lake at 7 this morning to drive to the Arctic Circle. It was an eight hour trip on very bad roads. We left the trailer at camp and, boy, were we glad. We never would have made it with the trailer. The road was dirt and gravel all the way. When we got to the Arctic Circle, it was just a sign. No souvenirs, no food, no vending machines, nothing. So all we had to eat all day was a bag of popcorn that was left in the car. And that really makes you thirsty. So we got back here at six O'clock, very hungry, thirsty, and tired. We just finished dinner and I got some laundry folded. I won't be up long tonight. Tomorrow, we are going to go yard sales and look for some souvenirs and post cards.

Saturday - June 21

Well, this is the longest day of the year and all kinds of events are planned for mid-nite to night. Of course, we probably won't be up to see them. We went into Fairbanks to-day. We stopped at a few yard sales but the prices up here are out of sight. So we went to Alaskaland. It is a theme park and it is free.

There were all kinds of Souvenir shops, rides and museums and shows. He went for a ride on a train and shopped and then it was lunch time. He went to a Salmon Bake at Alaska Land.
They set up huge ovens outside and they bake salmon, halibut steak and ribs. And there is a salad bar & cole slaw, potato salad pasta salads baked beans and sour dough biscuits. You just go around and fill your plates as often as you like. The baked salmon was delicious. And for dessert we had blueberry shortcake. Of course, we haven't eaten and dinner to - night. We were stuffed. Then we ran into the Harley Davidson Rally.
They had over a thousand bikers at a hotel parking lot.
We had to get a Harley Alaska shirt for Billy E. Jr. and I asked one of the bikers if we could take pictures and he said sure, just go over to the parking lot and mingle. So Jim did just that. I waited in the car. They were all very friendly. It was the Alaska Club Rally. So now I am doing some laundry. We are going to Denali Nat'l Park tomorrow for the day and it will be late when we get back. So I cleaned the trailer to night and washed my rugs & towels so we can get away early tomorrow. And on Monday, we are leaving for Anchorage.

Sunday - June 22

Well, this turned out to be some day. We left at 7 this morning and headed for Denali State Park. We intended to eat lunch and dinner on the road. Well, when we got to Denali there was no sign of any food. So we went to the Visitors Station and looked around and then drove the Denali Hwy. We saw some beautiful scenery and plenty of snow capped mts. but we didn't go far enough to see Mt. McKinley.

He will probably see that tomorrow on the way to Anchorage. He drove for hours on a dirt road. It was terrible. But at least, we didn't have the trailer hooked on. Well, we did have a flat and we were attacked by hundreds of mosquitoes trying to charge it. I must have 50 bites, especially on my feet. They are all swollen. Well, the tire was changed and we were on the road again. We had each had four small meat rolls at 6 O'Clock and it is after four. Then we had a storm and still 200 miles to go. He saw four moose on the road I took pictures. He finally got back to the trailer at 6:30. We had ~~great~~ better tuna sandwiches and now we are getting every thing ready so we can leave for Anchorage in the morning. We have to get a tire changed on the way. It will be another 400 and some miles day. It seems like everything in Alaska is from 300 to 400 miles from each other.

Monday June 23

Well, we started out early this morning at 7 but we had to go to the grocery store and then we had to find a store to fix two tires. We had another blowout on the van yesterday and one of the trailer tires looked bad. So it was 9:30 when we took off. It was a long ride but for a change there wasn't much construction.
We were heading for Anchorage by way of Denali Park. We hadn't seen Mt. McKinley, yet. But we sure saw it today. From about five different locations. It is so fabulous. It made the day. Now we are in Anchorage. We are like on a parking lot but we have hookups and cable. It's right off the highway to downtown Anchorage.
We are going to stay here again tomorrow night so that we can spend tomorrow in Anchorage city. There are several places we want to see and we can't pull the trailer down town. There are only about 4 campgrounds in Anchorage so Wednesday morning we are heading south towards Kenai Peninsula &eward. Then Jim can do some fishing.

Tuesday June 24

Tell we had a very good day to-day. We drove into Anchorage this morning and went to the Visitors Center for some information. We watched a half hour film on the earthquake of 1964. It was a 9.4 and it destroyed 4 of Anchorage and lasted 30 seconds. It had 3 after shocks of 5.4 and many tidal waves as high as 70 feet. It was very scary. Then we went to a theatre in the record and saw a half hour film on Alaska that was very impressive. Then we did some more souvenir shopping. We ate lunch at K.F.C. Jim's favorite. Then we drove to Fort Richardson. Pep was stationed there. So we took some videos of that. Then we went to the Salmon Hatchery and watched very large salmon try to jump up a water fall. Now, we are back at camp, getting every thing ready to leave in the morning. We are heading toward Seward.

Wednesday June 25

Well, this has been a very busy day. We are in Seward, right near the Pacific Ocean. We are camped right on the shore of Resurrection Bay. I am sitting in the trailer watching the ships go by and the gulls and seals swimming around. And it never get dark. We haven't seen dark since we left Montana. Tomorrow Jim is going out on a fishing boat from 7:30 until 6:30 all day fishing for halibut. There is a limit of two but I hope he at least gets one. We spent the day working thru this little fishing village. He did some more shopping and spent some time at the harbor. It is a real nice place. I found some nice souvenirs but I still need more. Tomorrow, I am going to clean the trailer and read. I have a whole day! Wow! Friday, we will probably leave for Homer.

Thursday June 26

Well, here it is another day. We are still in Seward but will leave tomorrow morning for Kenai. Jim went out on a headboat today. It was very cold and windy when they left but he did real good. He got his two halibut and my little freezer is full of fish now. Well, I don't have much to say tonight. I had a very relaxing day. I just sat around and read.

Friday June 27

Well, this has been a very good day. We left Seward at 8 this morning. And for once, we had good roads all the way. I couldn't believe it. It was a short trip, only about 100 miles to Kenai. We are going to leave the trailer here for a few days and take some side trips. About half an hour from the campground we saw three caribou. One had a humongous rack. All in velvet.

Male & female caribou have racks but this one had to be a buck. It was huge. We got to the campground about noon and had lunch. This is a very nice campground. It is a Good Sam and we have full hook-ups. There is an overlook.
We are on the bluff of the Kenai River and Cook Inlet. The tide comes in 19 feet and the whales are supposed to come in with it. High tide is 11:11 to night.
Of course, it will still be sunny!
We are going to go over and sit and watch the tide come in. The time to look for whales is two Hours before high tide and two hours after. So about nine O'Clock we will go back. It is 5 O'Clock now and I am doing laundry. Then we are going to grill pork chops and baked potatoes and Corn. They are eating very well. We drove out to a few yard sales but their prices are outrageous here.

Tomorrow we are going further south (67 miles) to a fishing village called Homer. It is right on the point of the Pacific.

Well, here it almost nine o'clock already and we are getting ready to leave in the morning. They are leaving for Valdez. It is over 400 miles so it will be another long day. We left at 8 this morning (without the trailer) and drove to Homer. It was beautiful country. We saw a baby moose and 2 eagles. And a lot of fishermen. They have campsites all along the water like we had in Seward. We sat on the bluff until 11 O'Clock last night but no whales came in. We won't be up at high tide tonight (mid-nite) so I guess we won't see the whales.

Maybe we'll see them in the next few days. It seems like we have been gone for such a long time.
But we have driven over 8000 miles and seen so much. I will never come here again but I would never have missed this trip. It is a dream come through. It reached 57° here to-day and all the natives are calling it a hot spell. They are all out in bathing suits and shorts and we have sweatshirts. More tomorrow.
Sunday June 29.

Well, we are ready to start our fourth week. Tomorrow is Buddy's Birthday and I will miss it. I have something for him, though. My writing is very bad. I have been having trouble with my fingers.
They stiffen and hurt. My knees are holding up good but I don't get to use my hands all while we drive and they get stiff on me. Well, we finished up our gift shopping to-day. We stopped in Anchorage for two hours and did that. But we had some very bad mountains and even worse roads. We were down to about 20 miles an hour for a long time and then were stopped about an hour waiting for a pilot car to lead us through several miles. So we didn't get to Valdez. We are in some back woods little camp site. There are four other camps here and you put your $15. in a box. I hope the animals stay back in the woods tomorrow Valdez!

Monday - June 30 - Forgot.
Tuesday - July 1

Well it is July and it seems like we have been on the road for a long time. He got so busy last night at Valdez that we both forgot to write. We were disappointed in Valdez. It was so commercial. We were camped in the middle of a big gravel parking lot with campers right beside us on both sides. I don't like people looking right in my windows so we kept the curtains closed. A camper up at Kenai told Jim that you could camp outside of Valdez and fish for salmon right next to your camper.

Well, it sounded great so we signed up for two nights. Then we drove to the salmon stream but no salmon.
The run doesn't start until early July. So everyone was just sitting around waiting for the fish. So we left there this morning and now we are in Tok. It is a very nice Good Sam park but we will only be here one night.
We just walked down the road about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile to a Salmon Bake.
They grill it outside. They had a large piece of Salmon, baked beans, salad bar and dessert. It was great. Then we walked back $\frac{1}{2}$ mile to the trailer. People up here are very active. You see people walking, riding bikes, skating, and jogging.

every where. And they all worship the sun. You see people sitting in the sun all day and all night.
Most of them are very dark skinned.
Well, we are leaving again in the morning for Haines, the land of the Eagles. I think we are going to spend three days there so we can celebrate the fourth of July there. I don't know what they are having but most towns have celebrations. So we will just join in. Then we will be heading back into British Columbia. I am tired and it will be nice to be heading home.

Wednesday - July 2

Well, we are in Haines, AK.
now. We drove 451 miles to get here.
Went through Canada Customs and then U.S. customs. But we don't really like it here.
We are going to leave in the morning. We will drive back 125 miles to Haines Junction and get back on the Alaska Highway.
Well, I feel like a dirt ball.

The roads are so dusty. To-day wasn't too bad. We drove around the St. Elias Mts. all snow covered and glaciers. They have covered so much ground and so many bad roads. All of Alaska, Yukon and British Columbia is under road construction. You just bounce around all the time. It is unbelievable.

This campground is so strict you can't sneeze without permission. You can't even put a mat outside your trailer, you will mess up the grass. A 3 hour boat trip to a glacier costs $129.00 a person. Well I don't like boats and we have been looking at glaciers for two weeks now. So anyway, we are leaving here in the morning. The Bible says thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return. Maybe we are in the process!

Thursday July 3rd

Well, tomorrow is the big day, and we will be in the Yukon. It is just a day here.

But we were too far from home to spend any more time in Alaska and we ran out of places to go unless we flew and that is out. A small plane with three people aboard is down somewhere near Mt. Whitney.
It went down Sunday and no one has heard from anyone aboard since. It is scary but people are still paying to fly up there. Also, the pilot of this plane, took their money but didn't file a flight plan so no one knows who the people are.

Well, we left Fairbanks this morning.
We saw some eagles and went to the grocery store and headed back up. We hit the Alaska highway again about noon and lost our hour. We are camped at Johnson's Crossing now. It is a very nice place. We stayed here on the way up. Jim is out changing the oil filter on his car. He had to go through Canadian customs to get out of Alaska. It was too much. He asked us all kinds of questions and we thought we were through, when he pulled out a flashlight and said now let's check your home away from home. I sat in the car and Jim went in the trailer with him. I didn't think they would ever come out. Finally, he did and said we could go. Jim said he opened every cupboard and every thing in the trailer. He lifted up the cushions & mattresses & even went through our underwear. I can't believe it, but I had two cartons of cigarettes hidden behind the clothes and he didn't find them. You are only allowed one carton. He was a jerk. No one has done that this whole trip. We have one more Canadian customs to go through to get out of here. We are both getting tired and

Looking forward to getting home.
But we have a long way to go.
It will be a week, at least, before we are out of Canada, and then we will still be in Minnesota (a long way from Belle.). Oh well, we'll make it, and tomorrow is a new day. There are a lot of campers in this little pond, all bundled up and sitting around campfires. We had very large hail about an hour before we got here. It cleared some of the dirt from the car & trailer but we were lucky it didn't damage any thing. But the temperature dropped and it is cold again.

Friday July 4th

Well, I hope everyone at home is enjoying the Fourth.
It is 9:15 here now but it is 10:15 there so I guess everyone is at the fireworks. Well, we spent the day on the road again. We got away at 7:30 this morning and the road was great. The are on the Alcan again, headed back. He saw a small black fox walking right along side of the car. He drove until 11:30 and stopped at Watson's Lake and had lunch. About an hour later we hit road construction but it wasn't bad. After about $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours of dirt the construction ended for awhile. Then it started again and the flag girl told Jim he had a flat on the trailer. So he changed that one and we were on the way again. Then we saw a giant Buffalo right on the road in front of us. So we filmed that. Then we gased up (\$42.00 worth) Canada is very high on gas. Then we were up in the Rocky Mts of Canada. You heard of the Canadian Rockies I'm sure. Well, they are big and we drove & drove and couldn't find a campground. We finally found one about 6 O'clock & pulled in. We have electric only. But it is fine for one night. But when I turned the pump on, I had no water. It seems when the radial tire blew on the trailer the wire strands in it cut two water lines. Well, of course, Jim patched it up. We have no water in the bathroom but I have cold water in the sink. To fix it, he will have to take the bathroom floor up. But it will have to wait until we get home.

Jim has a very bad back ache to-night, so he just went up to take a hot shower & then relax. This trip takes a lot out of you and we are really ready to get home. We have seen enough mountains & glaciers for a lifetime. But we still have a long way to go. So we will take one day at a time and do whatever we have to. Right now, everything is fine.

Saturday July 5th

Well, this was a very busy day. We left at 7:30 and had good roads for several hours. We saw animals almost from the time we left our camp sight. We saw moose, sheep, caribou, a buffalo and a fox. Then we ran into construction. Then we had another flat. But we got to where we wanted to stay but signs said campground full so we got a tire changed and hit the road again. It is 8:20 now and we are at a campground in Dawson Creek. We just had KFC for dinner and Jim is cleaning the van and I have to clean the trailer. We will be going through customs in a few days & then back towards home. I can't wait. It has been a trip of a life time, but we are starting our second month now and we are just about ready to go home.

Sunday July 6th

Well, this has turned from a very long boring day to some thing else. The drive throughout heavy rain all day and saw nothing but mountains & farms. The road was very good and we picked up another hour. We got lost in Edmonton and lost about an hour getting back on the road. But it was only 3:30 and we didn't want to stop that early. But we drove and drove and no campgrounds. It was 7:30 and we had driven over 400 miles. Finally at Red Deer a sign said Capping Lions Campground. I thought it would be a Provincial Park (no hook ups) but Jim said we were going in to find out.

Well, we found this camp ground that has full hook ups (16.50 a night) and it is like a dream. There are back under low shady trees and every thing is covered with white.

It looks like snow. And it was still falling. Well it looks like Christmas in July. It is cotton and we are camped under the cottonwood trees. I have never seen any thing like it. It is 9:15 and still bright but it looks like snow flakes falling. Well, it made our day even though we only had ~~fun~~ sandwiches for dinner. Some time tomorrow we will cross the border into "The lower 48." And it will be great. It costs us $100. a day driving in Canada. We are going to take our time getting home and stop in Minnesota for a few days so Jim can fish and I can do laundry. Washing machines are $1.75 a load and $1.50 for 1/2 hour in the drier up here. So I have a lot of laundry. Well, until tomorrow.

Monday July 7th

Well, here we are at another camp ground. We are in Montana in some body's back yard. But we have full hook-ups and it was only $2.00 a night. We drove until 5:30 and couldn't find any place so this sign said RV Parking full hook-ups $10.00. It is not much but we will be gone in the morning. I did do two loads of laundry. The machine was only $1.00 a load & the dryer .35[¢] for half an hour. So that helped. So to-day was a good day. We got thru customs and out of Canada. Called Lorraine and got some laundry done. It is 8:30 here (10:30 at home) the sun is still shining bright. It is hot but we have the air on. Getting thru customs was scary but more about that when we see you all.

Wednesday - July 9th

Well, I missed writing last night. We got to the camp ground late & I watched the All Star game. But to-night is different. We are in Minnesota at Fish Trap Lake. And we are registered for three nights. Wow!

Jim has rented a boat for the next two days so maybe he can finally get in some fishing. I did a load of laundry to night and tomorrow I will clean the trailer. It was very hot driving from North Dakota to-day. We left at 7 but in one hour we turned the radio on and found that we had lost another hour. Instead of 8 it was 9. We got here around 4 and it has been a good evening. We even got some walking in. Well, that's about all for now. It is twenty of ten and I am going to read a while & then go to bed.

Thursday July 10th

Well another day to-day was very relaxing for me. Jim went fishing this morning and again this evening. I'll let him tell all about that. I did some cleaning and read & watched a few soaps. It is kind of windy to night and they say we could have a thunder storm to night. He rode out to the highway this afternoon looking for a food store. He found one about 10 miles away & bought some food. We are going to be here for a few days & we needed a few things. Well, as I said it wasn't a very exciting day for me but I enjoyed it.

~~Saturday 10th~~ Friday July 11th

Well, this was a rather very relaxing day. For me, anyway, Jim went fishing this morning. Then we went for a ride & found a yard sale. He found a few books but we ended up talking to the two women over half an hour. They said that all these people that moved up to Alaska get a subsidy check of $20,000.00 every year as long as they stay there six months out of the year. It started back when we purchased Alaska & they needed people to populate it.

He also learned that if you are a school teacher in Minnesota when you retire, your pension is the amount of your salary every year. It was very interesting.
Well, Jim just got back from fishing again & he has us all hooked up to leave in the morning. It is 9:00 O'Clock. We are only 1 hour different now. It looks like if we continue on as we are, we should get home around next Thursday. We have already been through the five states left at least five other times so there is nothing left to see. So we are just about camped out & ready to get home. I hope our poor trailer makes it. It is in bad shape.

~~Saturday~~ July 12th Saturday

My goodness I can't even keep my days straight any more.

I thought it was Sunday. So I have another day. To-day was a tough day. We had a 30 mile an hour wind blowing right into us and it was hard to get any mileage. Plus it was 90° and very humid, so it was rough. But, we made over three hundred miles anyway.
We started out at 7 this morning looking for yard sales. But we only found 2 and they were all kids stuff. We called Jimmy from Burger King where we ate our dinner and got all of his news (you all had quite a week), and told Jimmy we would be home around Wed, or Sat or Sunday. We are both very tired and are ready to get home. But we still have a lot of driving. We are at a Grassam Park in Newton Owens. It is set back in hills called The Rolling Hills Campground.
But it is very hot and so we are all closed up and running the air. Jim was trying to make it to airport to night but he was just too tired. He is up taking a shower now and he will be ready to go again in the morning.

This is the fifth week now that we have been getting up every morning at 6 and on the road at 7. But when we think of what all we have done it seems like a dream. I can't wait to get home and see our videos and get my pictures done. Poor Kelly said she cries every day because she misses us. We miss her very much too. But hopefully the next few days will go quickly and we will have a safe trip home.

Sunday July 13th

Well, here we are at another campground. It is Sunday 8:00 Clock and we are in a Jellystone Park outside of Indianapolis, Ind.
It was a very warm day they said it reached 104 to 110, and it felt like it reached 110 about noon. The drove 505 miles to-day in spite of the heat. When we left Iowa this morning at 7:30 it was storming. And it stormed until about 11 then it cleared and got hot. The wanted to eat dinner at a Cracker Barrel to-day but there were people lined up outside waiting and we were very hungry. So we went to Andy's and had roast beef. The passed several other Cracker Barrels on the way and they were all crowded. Maybe we'll find one not so crowded tomorrow. Well, we should be home sometime Wednesday.

That sounds so good.

Well we are another day closer to home. I think we'll make it. I hope. Jim changed two more tires on the trailer last night. They didn't look too good. And to-day he heard some kind of a vibration in the van but he expects us to make it home. He had a strange day to-day. We expected to get to our campground about 2 O'Clock and just relax. But we hit a back up outside of Columbus Ohio. Two tractor trailers jack-knifed and they were blocking fuel. Every main road was closed for miles. We sat there in traffic for over an hour but they had no idea when it would be cleaned up. So, Jim cut across the grass & we went back the other way till we found a little road going in our direction.

We finally got back on 70 about an hour further down from the accident. Then we picked up our last lost hours. So when we finally got here it was 6:30.
We are at a KOA called Tanglewood Lake, outside of Pittsburgh. It is very nice. They have a beautiful lodge with a big screen T.V. and a nice pool. Also a nice fishing lake. They said there is trout & bass so Jim just went up to check it out. You don't need a license. Tomorrow morning we leave for Md & we will probably be around Lagers town tomorrow night. So we should get here fairly early Wednesday. I still can't believe what we did, but the trailer looks it.

Tuesday July 15th

Well, this is our last night of camping. Tomorrow we will be home. I have forgotten what home is. But I know I won't have to pack up every morning and leave. It seems like such a long time since we left. And I have forgotten a lot of the things that we have done. But now it is time to settle down again. I have a lot to do at home. We have tried to call Sharon three times these last few days but we can't get her. So I will call her at home tomorrow. We had a very nice day. We left Pittsburg this morning about 8 and we found a campground near Hancock called Indian Springs. It is very quiet, only a few people here. But we cleaned the van and trailer and emptied all of the cupboards so we won't have so much to do in the morning. Then we got ready & drove into Hagerstown and

Had a nice prime rib dinner at the Ponderosa. Then we drove around looking for deer.
Jim saw one. But there are a lot of new houses all up this way. We finally ended up at the C+O Canal. It is very hot here, it was 99° at 6 O'Clock. I guess it will be even worse at home. But we will survive.
Anyone who survives the Alcan hvy. twice in a month, can survive anything!!
